Birmingham

Emma-Jayne Crabtree heads a team of 12 at the Q3 Academy in Birmingham. The team uses Boardworks KS3+KS4 Citizenship on an interactive whiteboard most lessons. She says: “I am always really impressed with the Boardworks material, which is why I bought RS and PSHEE as well as Citizenship. I really do rave about it. It especially helps non-specialist teachers when they don’t have designated time to plan lessons.

“I love the interactivity of Boardworks – it really gets students’ attention. And it’s so visual that everyone gets involved. Any activities that count down or give you feedback...the pupils love that. It’s also great for giving them ideas that stimulate discussions.

“I like the PowerPoint format, too. If you want to make your own presentation, it’s really great that you can choose the Boardworks slides you want to use as there aren’t many resources out there that you can edit. I really think it’s fab!”
