

Case Study

Falconer School

Bushey, Hertfordshire

Mohammed Abusef is the ICT Coordinator at Falconer School in Bushey. He has been successfully using Boardworks KS3 ICT since 2009, both on his interactive whiteboard and on the school's VLE.

Mohammed thinks Boardworks offers great value for money: “My favourite thing about it is the clarity. It’s very clear; anyone can use it; it’s got lots of animations; it’s linked to the topics I’m teaching; and it’s got the most up-to-date National Curriculum links.” He feels Boardworks saves him a lot of time, too: “Planning’s so easy now, because you don’t have to create all the content yourself, it’s already there. Plus the lesson objectives are included within the PowerPoint, so I can just build my lesson plan around the PowerPoint.”

The students at Falconer School particularly enjoy the animations. Mohammed says “That’s the beauty of it. They do actually engage a lot when they interact with the PowerPoint. It’s not just static, you don’t just sit and watch, you do something with it. I’m really happy with Boardworks, I like everything about it.”