

Case Study

Lostock College

Manchester

Paul Johnson is the Head of Humanities at Lostock College in Manchester. His department has been using Boardworks resources at KS3 and KS4 in RS, Geography and History since 2006.

He says: “Boardworks can really make teaching come alive. It really is excellent, and so simple to use. The colours, text and diagrams are all bright and accessible for students. What’s not to like?”

Paul believes that Boardworks is an ideal resource for teaching in the 21st century. “It’s a teaching resource at and on the kids’ level... it’s the students’ medium. I honestly think the contribution that Boardworks has made to humanities teaching is immeasurable.”